DEBUTANTES PRESENTED TO RICHMOND SOCIETY

Misses Clara Vass Beverley and Sally Branch Donnan Make Their Bow at Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grammer Thornton, of 1819 Monument Avenue, introduced their nieces, Misses Clara Vass Beverley and Sally Branch Donnan, to society here at a dance given at their residence last evening. The entire lower floor was thrown open to the guests and decorated in quantities of pink roses and ferns, and the mantels were banked with pink blooms. The dining-room, where a buffet supper was served, was arranged with tall vases of American Beauty roses. Palm and bay trees screened the orchestra that played for the dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton received with the guests of honor, and about 150 members of the younger society set were invited. Mrs. Thornton was gowned in black lace over white silk, with a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley and Parma violets, and Miss Beverley wore pink crepe meteor with an overdress of pink tulle and trimmings of sapphire velvet. Her bouquet was of pink roses similar to that of Miss Beverley. Punch was served throughout the evening, and those assisting Mr. and Mrs. Thornton in doing the honors were Mrs. David Terry Williams, Mrs. Charles M. Ferrell and Mrs. Leslie C. Young.

Brilliant Function.

One of the handsomest affairs of the early winter season was the full-dress ball given at the Richmond Gray's Armory. A brilliant company of guests were in attendance, and the large hall was thronged throughout the evening with distinguished people. Much gold lace was worn by the officers present, and the costumes of the women added greatly to the charm of the function. After the military exhibition dancing was general, and nearly a thousand people were present. Chaperons for the entertainment included Mrs. George Ainslie, Mrs. B. B. Valentine, Mrs. George Ben Johnston, Mrs. William Hamilton, Mrs. Stuart Cooke, Mrs. Woodson P. Wadley, Mrs. Thomas B. McAdams, Mrs. Douglas Vanderhoof, Mrs. Frank D. Williams, Mrs. Christian Clarke, Mrs. John B. Swartzout, Mrs. H. Stuart Jones, Mrs. E. Lawson Crutchfield, Mrs. Joe Lennard, Mrs. Hudson Cary, Mrs. N. T. Massey, Mrs. Victor Williams, Mrs. W. B. Pizzini, Mrs. Norman W. Randolph, Mrs. J. Maske, Mrs. C. E. Holling, Mrs. Stuart Davis, Mrs. Alfred Gray, Mrs. Meade Spicer, Mrs. Warren P. Taylor, Mrs. Edmund Benson, Mrs. Adolph Blair, Mrs. Greer Baumgardner, Mrs. K. Blackwell, Mrs. Clarence Milhiser, Mrs. Samuel Cohen, Mrs. Charles Crawford, Mrs. John G. Hayes, Mrs. C. O. Saville, Mrs. George Wayne Anderson, Mrs. Granville Gray and the wives of the officers of the battalion.

Fashion's Decree

To-day's Dress Hint, with authentic note as to style and fabric.

It is almost impossible to have a dress too plain this season, provided the lines are good. Meeting all the requirements of smartness and comfort, this model in velvet is highly recommended. The skirt has a hip-yoke and the waist has a yoke, revers and collar of silk, the revers being edged with fur. To reproduce this design call for 3 yards 36-inch material, 2 1/4 yard silk and 1 1/4 yards 2-inch fur banding.

ner for the past week duck hunting.

Smalley-Gleason.

A wedding of much interest locally was solemnized Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gleason, in Waynesboro, when their daughter, Bertha, became the bride of Pay Larkin Smalley, a prominent business man of Ithaca, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. Owens, officiating, assisted by Rev. S. Owens. The home was decorated in palms, potted plants and lighted candles. Immediately preceding the entrance of the bride party, Miss Jean Smith sang, "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Hartwell Smith. The bride wore a traveling gown of wisteria cloth, with hat and gloves to correspond, and carried Lady Huntington roses. Little Helen Cash and Mary Agnes Snyder, cousins of the bride, held the ribbons, and Glenn Crafton, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Attractive Card Party.

MLLE. PAVLOWA DESCRIBES SOCIETY DANCE, PAVLOWANA

Premiere Dancense and Partner in the Walk-Around, With Directions for Time.

In the walk-around each dancer moves without holding the hands of the partner. Save for the touching of elbows at points in the dance, there is absolute independence. The concluding salutation which closes figure two brings the partners face to face, ready for the one here explained.

This third figure requires that the dancers move in complete circle, so that at the close each shall be at the spot from which they started. The counts run from "one" to "sixteen," the first four consisting of four steps taken by each dancer on alternate feet, the next four counts being used for a salutation similar to the one explained in the preceding article.

Alternate steps are once again used on the third group of four counts, and the last four counts the dancers make their second salutation (this time on two instead of four counts), after which the partners take two steps toward each other to continue the dance with the fourth figure.

The lady, having finished her previous figure, finds on the pulsation of the first count in the music that starts the figure she is to be consulting, that she is free to make her first step on the right foot. Placing both hands on her hips, she starts her first part of the walk-around, stepping first with the right foot, then the left, the right again, and on the fourth count, the left.

Steps exactly like those of the lady are taken by the cavalier, he using the right foot when she uses hers.

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend.' It is a happy thought to send hubby to the drug store for 'Mother's Friend' is applied externally over the abdominal muscles. It is a gentle, soothing lubricant penetrates to the finest network of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relieve the muscular strain to which these broad, fat abdominal muscles are subjected. The cords, tendons and ligaments are thus permitted to stretch without the corresponding surface strain so often involved during the period of expectation. This fact accounts for the entire absence, in many cases reported, of nausea, morning sickness and other distresses, such as laceration of the epigastric region, when this gentle form of lubrication is neglected."

"Mother's Friend" has been highly recommended by a host of women who know from experience and by men who know from observation. Write Broad Regulator Co., 308 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers.

Pavlova and Claustine as they appear in the "Walk Around."

and making his salutation with the knee of his right leg and the left leg held as straight as possible. Each dancer should take steps averaging seven to nine inches each, and be careful to raise the foot every time, and place it in a stately manner on the floor, touching the ball of the slipper or dancing pump only.

The illustration, which shows the first step in the walk-around, should give a clear idea of the correct positions of the bodies, arms, legs and feet, as well as the general air of buoyancy, which should be preserved. Just the slightest dip to the body on each step will add to the gracefulness of this part of the figure.

On the counts of "five" and "six" the lady and her cavalier swing to their right, and execute the salutation, rising again on the "seven" and "eight" counts into position to finish the walk-around. Counts "nine" to "twelve" inclusive, are utilized by steps the exact duplicates of those taken on the opening four counts of the figure, and on "thirteen" and "fourteen" the dancers complete their second salutation, which, because of the shorter time permitted for it, must be less formal and not quite so deep.

On counts "fifteen" and "sixteen" the lady and her cavalier take two steps toward each other, the lady raising her right hand so it may be grasped by her cavalier in his right, preparatory to the lady's making a complete turn to her left under her own and her partner's arms.
